Weaver Was Not Willing.

DES MOINES, Nov. 14.— was shown the United Press dispatch from Topeka in which H. S. Harry the People's party Kansas, says General Weaver peka consented to be pelted with eggs that the blame might be laid on the Republicans. "There is not a word of truth in the story so far as it relates to me," said the general. "I never heard of it before. No one ever asked me to be willing to be pelted with eggs and they would not have gotten my consent if they had. The story is the merest fabrication."

Social Democratic Congress.

BERLIN, Nov. 14.—The annual national conference of the Social Democratic party was opened in Concordia hall this evening with a reception. More than 200 accredited delegates were present. Conspicuous among them were August Bebel, William Liebknecht, Ignaz Auer, Paul Singer and Deputies Seifert, Dietz, Frohme, Metzger and Stadthagen. Carl Grillenberger, member for Nuerenberg, and George Von Vollmar, member from Munich, a leader of the south Social-Democrats, were conspicuous by their absence, but it is said, will appear later. Singer was elected president and Gothlet of Breslau vice-president. The work of organization occupied the rest of the evening. The programme of the subjects already laid out for discussion was approved with but trivial alterations.

Farmers' Alliance Meeting.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 14.—To-morrow morning at 10:30 o'clock the Farmers Alliance and Industrial Union of America will meet in annual session. Governor Buchanan will voice the welcome to the 1500 delegates on behalf of the state. Among the delegates arrived are many of national repute: Gen. J. B. Weaver, President Loucks, C. W. McCune, Ignatius Donnelly, T. V. Powderly, Hon. Jerry Simpson, Ben Terrell, Senator Van Wyck, Congressman Livingstone and Tom Wilson, Gen. Jas. Field, Frank Burkitt, Alonzo Wardell, Ralph Beaumont, H. L. Taubeneck, J. H. Jamison, W. S. Morgan and Lady Somerset, Mrs. Lease, Miss Willard, Miss Biggs and others.

A Railroad Case.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Secretary Charles Foster of Ohio in his private capacity was an unsuccessful suitor before the supreme court to-day. The case was "Charles Foster, appellant, vs. the Mansfield, Cold Water and Lake Michigan Railroad company, The Pennsylvania Railroad company, et al.," an appeal from the circuit court of the northern district of Ohio. It was a bill in equity to open the foreclosure of a mortgage to George W. Case and Thomas A. Scott and to vacate the order of sale issued thereunder upon the ground of fraud and collusion between the Ohio railroad and the Pennsylvania railroad. The chief defense was laches on the part of Mr. Foster in the shape of delay in filing his claim.

Justice Brown, in filing the decision, said the case left it a matter of doubt whether, even if the decree were set aside, it would redound to the credit of plaintiff, inasmuch as he was only a holder of common stock in the road, and there was a million dollars due on the mortgage and a floating indebtedness of $600,000 besides, and the road had only sold for half a million dollars. But in any event, the proof of laches was complete and so the decree of the court below would be affirmed.

A Suspicious Death.

MOSCOW, Nov. 14.—A sensation has been caused here by the sudden death at Taskhend in Asiatic Russia of General Booronok. Some time ago General Booronok was appointed a special commissioner to examine into the administration of the province in which the town is situated. He made an exhaustive examination into the affair with the result that he discovered irregularities involving a number of officials. General Booronok was upon the point of returning to Moscow when he was taken suddenly ill and died in a few minutes. It is suspected that some of the officials whose dishonesty was brought to light by General Booronok are responsible for his death, fearing that his disclosures would result in their punishment, possibly in exile to Siberia. A post mortem examination will be made to learn if he was poisoned.

A Murderous Affray.

ZANESVILLE, Ohio, Nov. 14.—Passengers on the west bound B. & O. train this afternoon report a terrible fight at St. Clairsville Junction, a small mining town about four miles west of Bellaire. About twenty miners employed at Troll Brothers mills went to Bellaire and indulged deeply in intoxicants. On returning to St. Clairsville Junction a political discussion precipitated a drunken brawl, in which a miner named Vestina was killed and another miner named Distiker was fatally injured. Knives, stones and clubs were used as weapons in the melee and several of the participants received injuries which are serious. About fifteen of those engaged in the fight were arrested but those who inflicted the blows which were fatal escaped.

A Homesick Defaulter.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 14.—Edward P. Moxey and Andrew J. Riley, the expert accountants who have been examining the books of the Lombard Investment company in the interest of its eastern stockholders, have almost concluded their work and expect to leave the city within ten days. In their researches they have examined the accounts of M. H. Lewis and W. H. L. Russell, the alleged defaulters, from the time they became connected with the company.

The experts refuse to talk regarding their work, but it has leaked out that the shortage of Russell will approximate $100,000. For eight years he was connected with the company, and his speculations date back to the first year of his employment. He was cool and methodical in his operations, and his methods tend to show that it was his intention to accumulate money not for the purpose of high living, but for the sole object of getting rich. He started out

A Captain's Punishment.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The findings of the court martial in the case of Captain J. R. Meeker of the marine corps have reached the navy department. Captain Meeker was charged with neglect of duty while in charge of the marine guard of the cruiser Chicago during her recent cruise in South American waters. At Montevideo four of his men obtained some liquor and got intoxicated. Captain Meeker was held responsible for their conduct, court martialed, found guilty of neglect of duty and sentenced by Admiral Walker to suspension from duty for one year on half pay.

Admiral Walker first caused Captain Meeker to be publicly reprimanded on the quarter deck and then court martialed. When the court met Captain Meeker as bar to the proceedings set forth that he had already been punished by reprimand. The court decided that the captain's plea in bar was good but Admiral Walker directed the court to proceed regardless of the plea and it did so, finding the captain guilty as charged.

The navy department can do nothing in the matter unless Captain Meeker appeals from the decision of the court. Should he do so the authorities will have the interesting question to decide, whether or not an officer can be punished twice for the same offense.

Irish Eviction Trials.

DUBLIN, Nov. 14.—At the meeting of the commission on the Clonerty and Clancy Carde eviction cases to-day Mr. Justice Mathews, president of the committee, referred to the Carson scene and regretted the absence of courtesy to which he was accustomed in England. He further explained the objects of the commission and declared that the cross-examining of witnesses under such circumstances was inadmissible and without precedent. President Mathews then read Mr. Murphy's letter of resignation, in which he gave as his chief reason for resigning the president's refusal to allow him to cross-examine the witnesses. As Mr. Murphy was regarded as the landlord's representative on the commission, his withdrawal is looked upon without regret by the other side.

The English Harvest.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—The Mark Lane Express says that the threshings from the English harvest have been below the average. The farmers are resisting the excessive cheapness of English wheat more steadily than in 1886 and in 1887. The prices of English wheat have fallen five pence a quarter in London, on the week's average. The country markets are steady, except in the southwest. Foreign wheat has declined six pence, owing to the simultaneous large imports and the increase of supplies afloat. The vigor with which Russia shipped wheat in October had not been wholly expected, although counterpoised by a lower estimate of the American supply.

Senator Hill's Marriage Denied.

ATLANTA, Nov. 14.—It is Mrs. Iverson of this city, who the papers say is to be married to Senator Hill of New York. The rumor concerning Senator Hill's admiration of Mrs. Iverson started here soon after Mr. Hill's visit to Atlanta in the spring. He met Mrs. Iverson and was much pleased with her beauty and grace as everyone is and spoke of her to friends. Mrs. Iverson was seen about the report this morning and says: "I never met Senator Hill but once in my life. Of course the story is untrue and I regret that such a story has been given publication. I have neither seen him nor heard from him since I met him on one occasion last spring at the unveiling of the Grady statue."

A Plausible Explanation.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 14.—The widely published statement that Captain Thorpe who has had charge in this country of all English vessels consigned to Patterson, Ramsay & Co. had ordered the vessels Baltimore and Govern which were in port last Thursday to decorate the steamers in honor of Cleveland's election and which statement caused a great deal of ill feeling and discussion is absolutely disproved by the statements made to a United Press representative by Captain Thorpe, Patterson, Ramsay & Co. and the captains of the vessels. Captain Thorpe knew nothing of the vessels being decorated until after the flags and bunting had been ordered down by Mr. Ramsay. The real cause of the celebration undertaken entirely by the captains of the steamers without orders was to honor the birthday of the Prince of Wales.

A Destructive Fire.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Nov. 14.—A destructive fire visited this place yesterday destroying a large bakery and the tobacco factory of Harvey & Co. The buildings were all new having been rebuilt on the ruins of the great fire of last July. The loss on buildings is $100,000 and stock about $50,000. Fully covered by insurance.

The cause of the fire is unknown. One hundred and fifty hands are thrown out of employment. The plant will be rebuilt at once.

Anarchy Among French Troops.

PARIS, Nov. 14.—Much anxiety has been caused by an exhibition of anarchy in the army. While troops were waiting at the Compeigne station a private insulted and struck an officer, felling him to the ground, and crying, 'Long live Anarchy! Down with the army and its officers.'

It is believed that his purpose was to cause an outbreak in favor of anarchy. He will probably be shot.

A Canadian Election.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 14.—The by-election in the Walker constituency of the Northwest territory Saturday resulted in favor of ex-Premier Haultain's candidate and will result in the legislature the executive on the separate Haultain's promising that he would establish a system of Haultaine now his majority in the house. Before the two parties a dead

Legislation in Kansas.

TOPEKA, Kas., Nov. 14.—Fear has been expressed corporations that the legislature will at once railroad and other corporations to the great injury of the people. It is feared that the prospects of such legislation would drive away eastern capital and Governor elect Lewelling in a statement to-day regarding the probable passage of a maximum freight rate bill by the legislature said: "They will certainly enact some legislation looking to the control of freight rates. Personally I am inclined to favor a commission with power to fix rates, a commission composed of honest, capable and conservative men, who are competent to ascertain the needs of the people and so adjust rates as will best serve all the interests of the state."

Regarding possible legislation affecting interest rates he said: "There can be no doubt that interest rates have been too high. The urgent demand for an increase of the currency comes largely from the desire for a lower rate of interest. I do not think that any laws will be passed that will have the least tendency to injure the credit of the state in the east or anywhere else."

The Republicans will cast their votes for Carroll or some straightout Democrat if they cannot elect one of their own men, in order to prevent Kansas from having another Alliance senator. Judge John Martin of Topeka is a strong candidate, and he is a lifelong Democrat, but he has been in the fusion deal and the Republicans will fight him furiously. He will find opposition from the Populists, who are determined to have one of their party for senator. To-day it seems that Judge Frank Doster, a prominent lawyer of Marion, is in the lead. He is probably the ablest man in the Populist party, but he holds radical socialistic views. Mrs. Lease, who declares now her fight will in the future be directed against the Democratic party, has served notice on Judge Martin and other Democrats that she will be here during the session of the legislature to defeat any of them who aspire to the senatorship. She is against fusion and says she stands in the middle of the road and will have enough followers to defeat any Democrats who ask for the senatorship. "There is one man that can never reach that honor," says Mrs. Lease, "and he is Jerry Simpson." She declared she would fight him with all the vigor she had. She was against him for re-election to congress and said since the election that the people of the Seventh district disgraced themselves by voting for him.

Mrs. Lease said she was going to look up the constitution, and if not barred would be a candidate for the senatorship herself. She declared with the "middle of the road" members and Republican help she could be elected, and believed the Republicans ought to stand by her for her denouncement of the egg-throwing Democracy of the south. She further said she was going to Georgia and speak if all the rotten eggs in that state were thrown at her. When she heard Tom Watson was beaten there, she was enraged and wanted to go back there and beard the Democracy in its den.

Severe Loss by Fire.

MCKEESPORT, Pa., Nov. 14.—At five o'clock this evening fire broke out in Brown's grocery, corner of Jenny Lind and Eleventh street. After ten houses had been consumed the National Tube works came to the rescue by pumping water into the city's mains from their works. A number of houses were torn down and the fire was gotten under control.

The fire was caused by the explosion of a lamp. Loss $50,000; insurance small.

Preparing to Seat Kolb.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 14.—The Alabama legislature meets to-morrow and among the members already arrived Kolb's declared purpose to be inaugurated governor of Alabama is being discussed. The Kolb members refuse to divulge their plans, but claim that they have perfected means to seat Kolb.

A Treasury Decision.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The treasury department has decided that a periodical issued weekly, and containing besides a continued story complete stories and other matter, is a periodical and not a book, and is subject only to the provisions of the tariff law regulating the importation of periodicals.

Not a Republican Senator.

EMPORIA, Kan., Nov. 14.—Official returns from Greenwood county give only two majority for Waterhouse for state senator. Lyon county gave Levi Dumbault, People's party candidate, twenty-two majority. The latter is elected. This makes it certain that the next United States senator from this state will not be a Republican.

CHARGED WITH BIGAMY

Wm. F. Johnston of Manitou Arrested on a Serious Charge

On Sunday evening Wm. F. Johnston of Manitou was arrested on complaint of a woman calling herself Annie C. Johnston of Detroit upon the charge of bigamy. Johnston has for the past nine or ten years resided in Manitou and is a prosperous and much respected citizen. He has for many years been the foreman for Dr. Bell, and has had charge of all the improvements made by him in the last four years. Seven years ago he was married to an estimable lady of Manitou and now has three young children.

Mrs. Johnston No. 1 came to this city last Thursday and went to the Elk hotel. Then she went to Cripple Creek, and Sunday last Deputy-sheriff Mooney came down from there and made the arrest. The complaint was made before a justice at Barry, and although Johnston is able to give bail in large sum he had to remain under arrest until taken there yesterday.

The woman tells a long tale, charging Johnston with almost every crime on the calendar, even with the murder of a former wife before she came on the scene. Friends of Johnston, however, declare that it is a case of persecution and part of a scheme to get money out of him. As related by them, Johnston is not as black as painted. It is said that he was married to wife No. 1 in Detroit, Mich., and that they could not agree. After three or four months they agreed to separate and signed a paper to that effect. He came to Colorado and received papers announcing that she had applied for a divorce. He supposed that she had secured it, and in time married the lady at Manitou. In time he learned that he was not a free man when he married the second time, and it preyed on his mind for several years. He took to hard drinking, the principal thing worrying him being the telling of the story to his Manitou wife. Not long ago he began to realize that trouble was coming and went to a Manitou lawyer and told his story. The lawyer advised him to tell his wife, and another friend who was taken into the secret also advised this course. He did tell his wife, and she took it in a very cool and sensible way, and promised to stand by him. Since then he has refused to drink, and has been apparently a different man. It is stated that Mrs. Johnston No. 1 knew where he was well enough, or could easily have found out. Johnston took his Manitou wife to Detroit on their wedding trip, and has been constantly in communication with friends and relatives there. He has also frequently talked with former residents of Detroit in this city about his friends and family there.

Altogether the case promises to be a very interesting one.

French Cabinet Crisis.

PARIS, Nov. 14.—The present week is likely to be a momentous one for the French cabinet. There is a growing opinion that the ministry is only waiting to die gracefully. The chamber of deputies has already abolished the duties on certain drinkables against the advice of the ministers, thus diminishing the revenue by 88,000,000 francs and upsetting the finance minister's budget schemes. On Wednesday the government will press its bill asking for power to suppress Anarchist papers. It is believed that the chamber will reject the bill as a mode of [illegible] the prime [illegible] with Anarchists. On Thursday the Panama canal question will be debated, and that is likely to bring trouble. The government may elect to vote on either of these questions. Should the government be overthrown it is likely that M. Ribot, the present minister of foreign affairs, and M. DeFreycinet, the present minister of war will be retained in the remodeled cabinet. The outcome of the week's events is watched with great interest in political circles. The Radicals will not lose an opportunity to overthrow the government.

A Disabled Steamer.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Captain Healy of the England, in an interview with a reporter of the United Press to-day said that during the first part of the voyage everything went along pleasantly. On October 29, when the machinery of the steamer broke down, the weather was fine and the vessel came to a stop in mid-ocean. "We attempted," said the captain, "to continue the voyage under sail but there was no wind, and all the sail that we were able to get did not give the ship steerageway."

It took thirteen days, he declared, to repair the injury and during that time the ship drifted. She was passed by a number of vessels during the interval. The only fear Captain Healy and the other officers of the boat entertained, according to their statements, was that a storm would spring up and in the helpless condition of the vessel swamp her. When the temporary repairs had been made the vessel continued slowly on her course, sometimes not making over five knots per hour. The cause of the breaking down of her machinery was simply that it was very old.

The vessel brought a cargo of general merchandise and two passengers, who were returning cattlemen.

New Trial Granted.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The supreme court gave a new lease of life to a border ruffian named Clyde Mattox, under sentence of death passed by a United States district court of Kansas, for a murder committed in the Indian territory. It appeared that on the trial the bailiff in charge of the jury informed them that "This was the third man Mattox had killed," and further allowed them to have access to a newspaper which published a full account of the desperado's previous crimes. Further the Kansas court refused to admit evidence that the murdered man said before his death that he knew it was not Mattox who shot him. For these reasons Chief Justice Fuller granted a new trial.

The Pinafore Sunk.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 14.—The Pinafore was run down and sunk in the Patapsco river last night by the steamer Fred Avon. James [illegible], of the crew, was drowned. The Pinafore was an oyster dredging craft and was bound for Baltimore with a cargo of bivalves when the collision occurred.

NO EXTRA SESSION.

An Extraordinary Reason Assigned for Delay

THE REPUBLICANS TOO EAGER

The New Administration Will Devote Its Undivided Attention to Looking Around—No Cause for Haste

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—The Sun this morning says: "It is reported semi-authoritatively this morning that it is the present determination of ex-President Cleveland not to call an extraordinary session of congress after his inauguration on March 4 next. It is the opinion of the statesmen in the present of Mr. Cleveland and his closest friends an extra session of it would turn out to be a prolific proceeding. His friends say that Mr. Cleveland must have time after his inauguration to look over the ground. There is a natural objection also to the reassembling of congress immediately after the inauguration on the ground that it would have more or less of an unsettling influence on the business of the country. Another objection to an extraordinary session in the minds of Mr. Cleveland's friends is that the Republican party and its allies have demonstrated altogether too eager a desire that Mr. Cleveland should call an extraordinary session. It is not customary for a new administration to accept counsel from the enemy. But stronger than any thing else is the feeling that an extraordinary session could be of no particular advantage, and that the proper thing to do is to give Mr. Cleveland and the Democratic leaders time to look around and determine just what course to pursue. The best authorities said last night that it would take all next summer and fall to get under headway, and that it will be plenty of time to go ahead at the beginning of the Fifty third congress, which assembles on the first Monday of December, 1893.

Mr. Cleveland is to speak at the dinner at the Chamber of Commerce this evening.

Stevenson's Speech.

BLOOMINGTON, Ills., Nov. 14.—At a political demonstration to Vice-president-elect Stevenson he said: "While as Democrats we rejoice over the great victory we have achieved, we should not forget that we are Americans, Democrats and Republicans alike, we have one country, one destiny. The glory which attaches to the American name and American achievements belongs exclusively to no party or section, but is the inheritance of all our countrymen. Nor should we forget that we are equally interested in having wise legislation and honest methods in government. I may be pardoned for saying that the campaign just closed has been singularly free from personal villification. This should be a matter of rejoicing to all men who place a high estimate upon personal character, and who value the good name of those to whom are confided important public trusts. I take pleasure in bearing testimony now, as I did while the contest was yet undetermined, to the ability and high personal character of the gentlemen who were candidates for high offices upon the opposite ticket. In his great domestic bereavement the president of the United States has the heartfelt sympathy of all his countrymen.

"It has been truly said that the late campaign recalled the era of good feeling which marked the administration of President Monroe. May we not hope that the great political struggle of 1892 between two eminent citizens, Harrison and Cleveland, the two chosen representatives of the two great parties, will inaugurate a new era in American politics, and that calm discussion and respectful consideration for the opinions of our opponents will characterize the presidential contests in the future.

"While this contest has been waged upon a high plane the issues involved have been none the less clearly and distinctly defined. We firmly believe that the welfare of our country and of its humblest citizens are bound up in the success of the great historic party of which we are members. We favor a large measure of commercial freedom to the end that employment be given our own skilled labor and that the United States be the successful competitor in the markets of the world, we favor the free admission of raw material. It is a part of our political creed that "tariff is a tax" and tax is paid by the consumer. We earnestly favor the reduction to a minimum of tariff taxes upon the necessaries of life. We believe the power to tax is limited by the public necessities, to the end that we may have stable government in the states, avoid the disturbance and extend to all sections of the country the prosperity and happiness which springs from good government. We favor the strictest economy in the expenditures of public money.

"The verdict of the people has been pronounced against a protective tariff. But let no apprehension be felt that they will be imperiled. The reduction of the tariff within wise lines will conserve, not destroy, business interests of the country. For the first time in almost a third of a century the Democrats will control all departments of the government. With this power will come grave responsibilities. You have wisely selected for the highest office known to our constitution, a statesman whose administration has stood a critical test and is a guarantee of what is to follow. Rest assured that with Grover Cleveland as president and with the senate and house controlled by men of political faith, the government will be safely administered and legislation will be in the interest of all the people."

A Minister's Suicide.

ORANGE, Mass., Nov. 14.—Rev. G. A. Harris, aged 29, pastor of the Universalist church, committed suicide on Sunday night by shooting. He was unmarried and lived alone. He was not missed until his congregation was seated in church yesterday afternoon. A messenger found him dead in his study with a revolver in his hand. Mr. Harris was ordained last year. He was a native of Pennsylvania.

Increased Exports.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The increase in the export of our live cattle, beef and hog products continues. Last month we sent out live cattle to the value of $[illegible] which was $[illegible],000 more than in the same month last year. Our total exports of beef, hog and dairy products for the month were $10,853,000 against $8,909,000 for October, 1891.

A DIFFICULT TASK

If the Democrats do not call an extra session of congress immediately upon the inauguration of President Cleveland they may be justly accused of indecision or of dread. If the declarations made by Democratic orators in the last campaign upon which they have received the verdict of the country are true then the McKinley bill is little short of a barefaced robbery of the many for the benefit of the few and if they do not at once move to its repeal they are accomplices in a crime

But it is not difficult to see that the task before them is not an easy one. Upon one point there is unanimity of opinion and upon only one. If any Democrat is asked what the next congress proposes to do in the matter of the tariff, his answer will be, to repeal the McKinley bill. But the McKinley bill is the instrument by which the greater part of the money is collected for the purposes of government and it produces only a small sum above running expenses to be applied to the reduction of the public debt. The repeal of the McKinley bill of necessity involves the passage of a substitute

It will not do for the Democrats after their loud declarations in favor of a reduction of the tariff to substitute for the McKinley act a measure which like the Mills bill, is simply a readjustment of the burden. To take off the tax from wool and put it on sugar to let in lead and tax iron, to protect southern industries and expose those of the north to competition, will in no sense give relief which has been promised and which is expected by those who voted for Cleveland and tariff reform

Again it will not do to seriously reduce the revenue. The last congress is a good illustration of Democratic economy. It managed to cut down the appropriations for the navy, it means to reduce the necessary expenses at West Point and Annapolis, it means the lowering of the efficiency of the diplomatic service, and perhaps a reduction of the pension list. But it also means an increase in the river and harbor bill and an increase in every appropriation which can be of use to a Democratic community and which can be made to advance the cause of the party, and it means, if we may judge by the last congress, total appropriations not reduced but increased from those of the Republicans. A reduction of the total amount of revenue will therefore inevitably mean a deficiency for the treasury or an increase in the public debt

If tariff rates are reduced, imports must be increased to yield the necessary revenue. The proposition is self evident and undeniable. But the increased imports mean simply that certain goods will be made abroad instead of at home, and that means American workmen out of employment. Undoubtedly American wages would be reduced in an effort to meet foreign competition, but this again would affect the amount of imports and reduce the revenue

Altogether the prospect for the Democracy is not an easy or a pleasant one. They are not agreed among themselves as to what they can do or even as to what they want to do. They have a task before them which is surely difficult. To some it seems impossible. Republicans will watch their effort with interest. We would like to see them succeed. In a time of great prosperity, they have promised the country relief. If there is any greater prosperity than this we would like to have it begin as soon as possible

We trust that none of our readers will overlook the meeting of the chamber of commerce which is to be held at the Antlers pavilion this evening. At the meeting the reports of the work done will be received and there will also be some discussion of the needs and opportunities of the chamber of commerce of Colorado Springs. This is a matter in which all ought to be interested for it is surely a matter which concerns all. If only those attend who were benefitted by the work done by the chamber at the time of the Knights Templar conclave the building will be crowded, and if in addition there are present all those who have admired and felt proud of the illustrated Colorado Springs book it will be necessary to secure a larger hall for the meeting place. The chamber of commerce does not hold frequent meetings, and any one can spare the time to attend this one. It deserves a good attendance and we hope will have it

Those papers which urge the permanence of the People's party in Colorado politics should give a reason for it and suggest a platform. The "protest" idea alone is not sufficient for indefinite use. The sub treasury scheme and the government ownership of railroads are not welcome to those who voted for them. Even the ambition of office holders is not an adequate basis for a new party. If it is simply to be a silver party an explanation should be given of how silver is to be benefitted by a party which is for silver in a few states and greenbacks in many others

The preservation of the forests of Colorado is not a political matter. It is one in which the whole state is interested and which concerns all individuals in the state. Whatever can be done in the state assembly and in the national congress should receive the attention which the importance of the subject deserves

The returns so far do not show the [illegible] of a single Populist congressman [illegible] in a southern or Democratic district [illegible] Western [illegible] who voted for

We never can appreciate their services to the Democracy

WATER FROM THE GREAT FALLS USED TO DRIVE MACHINERY

A Great Engineering Work—Over $2,500 000 Spent for 100 000 Horsepower There Will Be Little Diminution of the Flow Over the Falls

No engineer ever looked at the spectacle of power displayed by Niagara falls without a feeling that it was a crime to allow the enormous energy there stored up to run to waste from eternity to eternity. The artist is content to steep his soul in the beauty of the scene but the average utilitarian American is likely to do some figuring on horsepower and available units of work. The prophecies of years are about to materialize in a great power plant which will utilize 100 000 of the 15 000 000 of horsepower going to waste over the falls and $2 500 000 has been expended and the water wheels will be in place and the sluices will be opened

From the early years of the ownership of the falls by the Porter family the advantages of the great water power were freely discussed but nothing was done until about 1850 when Horace H Day caused the construction of a canal which takes water from a point above the rapids and conducts it to a set of mills built on the banks below the falls and now known as Schoellkopf's mills. The Niagara river makes a bend at a right angle and the falls are at the apex of that angle. This canal forms the hypothenuse of a right angled triangle, of which the longest side is the river above and the shortest side the river below the falls. The mills are near the falls and are not a picturesque feature of the scenery.

The turbines which drive the mills are sunk in pits only about fifty or sixty feet deep and consequently their tail races discharge a hundred feet or more above the surface of the rapids below the falls and half of the available power of the water brought down by the canal is thus wasted. Less than 6 000 horsepower is utilized

The new works have reversed this plan of a long supply canal and a short tailrace. They have been constructed on a modification of a plan first proposed by Thomas Duershed a division engineer of the New York state canals. The plan is to have the mills on the banks above the falls and at a distance from the scenic locality and then to have a long tunnel to carry the waste water down to the rapids

The mouth of the canal is more than a mile above the falls. As far as constructed the canal is about 1 500 feet long 12 feet deep and varies from a breadth of 200 feet at the mouth to 100 feet at its inner end. Along the sides of this canal and of its branches to be built are sunk pits to a depth of 160 feet and at the bottom of these pits are placed the turbine water wheels. Each of these wheels has 140 feet effective head of water over it. The water is carried down to them in great pipes seven or eight feet in diameter, called penstocks. After the water had done its work on the wheels it is discharged into the big tunnel, which runs away underground to the river below the falls.

This tunnel has been the most difficult and costly part of the work so far. It was cut through solid limestone rock but the rock was found to crumble so badly after exposure that the whole 7 000 feet of the tunnel had to be bricked up. It is in the form of a horseshoe twenty-eight feet high and eighteen feet broad inside dimensions. Starting at a depth of 160 feet it has a downward slope or pitch of four feet in a thousand at first increasing to seven feet in a thousand. Its mouth where it discharges into the rapids is 214 feet below the brink of the cliffs which form the ravine. Its cross section is 365 square feet, and at the speed of twenty feet a second with which the water will rush out of it there will be a discharge of about 50 000 gallons every minute

And yet this enormous amount of water will not show any appreciable drain whatever on the magnificent volume of Niagara. It will lower the level of the great flood only about one and a half inches. The extent and constancy of this water power can be understood when it is realized that the water service of the great lakes, with the land sloping into them and contributing to the Falls of Niagara, has a total drainage basin of over 240,000 square miles equal to more than twice the area of Great Britain and Ireland, about 40,000 square miles more than the total area of France, and more than fifteen times the total area of Switzerland. The Horseshoe falls are 158 feet high and 2 000 feet wide. The other channel, in the state of New York, forms the American falls which are 169 feet high at the eastern side, and 1 000 feet wide, both falls comprising 3 600 linear feet of water

The extreme limits of variation in the depth of the river at different times above the falls are 3½ feet, but these limits are rarely reached. The ordinary variation is about one foot. Below the falls the extreme variation reaches fifteen feet. Generally a variation of one foot above the falls is followed by a change of level of five feet below the falls. These slight changes are of short duration and are due mainly to long continued and violent wind or sudden great accumulations of ice

The average discharge of water at the outlet of Lake Erie into the Niagara river is estimated by some authorities at 265 000 cubic feet a second. Moreover, as far as this or the next two generations are concerned it doesn't matter whether there is any rainfall for there are 6 000 cubic miles of water backed up in the little mill pond of the Niagara Falls Power company which is sufficient to run the falls in their present style for 100 years without the help of another drop from the clouds.—New York Tribune

A Jealous Elephant.

An amusing instance of elephantine pride is told by Baker. The elephant which usually led the state procession of a rajah being sick, the magnificent trappings were placed on one which had up to this time occupied only a subordinate place. To [illegible] for the Electric Fluid

About the middle of the last century through the genius of Franklin, lightning became identified with common or frictional electricity, but the language referring to this great natural force continued to be the same as when men were ignorant of its nature. They spoke as we still speak of a thunderstorm, and of thunder and lightning and thus as in other cases, mistook, as we continue to do at least in our mode of speech, the effect for the cause. It is commonly said that the thunder turns to sour the milk and the beer, that there is thunder in the air and the singeing of a tree by lightning was due to the thunder last night" as its owner informed me a few weeks ago. Even Scott, in The Heart of Midlothian' speaks of the shattered and thunder splitten peaks of Arran

Our gratitude is due to those gifted men who have been able to divest natural phenomena of the ignorance and superstition that formerly encumbered them and so to bring them under the dominion of scientific laws which appeal to the good sense of all students of nature —Notes and Queries

They are immovable, but mobility is unnecessary because of the range of vision afforded by the position and the number of facets. They have no lids but are protected from dust and injury by rows of hairs growing along the lines at the junctions of the facets. The simple eyes are supposed to have been given the bee to enable it to see above its head when intent upon gathering honey from the cups of flowers. Probably this may be one reason but it is likely there are other uses for them not yet ascertained —Pearson's Weekly

The fork was absolutely unknown to the Greeks and Romans. It appeared only as a curiosity in the Middle Ages and was first used upon the table by Henry III.

The Japanese are a pre-eminently polite nation, and the student looked unhappy, wriggled, drew in his breath, then said:

"Sir Arnold is a very fine man—very great man; he adores Japan." This with pride. Then a look of yearning and anxiety came over his face. "His lectures are very fine—[illegible] but oh, we would like so much to know what he lectures about."

To cap the climax, the [illegible] was introduced the next day to Sir [illegible] self, and almost his first words were an apology for not calling as he was [illegible] ing to lecture at Kyoto university.

ELECTRICITY CURES NEURALGIA

The Vibratory Principle Applied to the Head by an Electrical Helmet.

Among all the methods [illegible] odd in appearance applied to the treatment of nervous disease [illegible] more original than the one [illegible] employed for some time at the Salpetriere by Professor Charcot. It is the treatment by mechanical vibration.

There is a serious disease of the nervous system, characterized by an incessant trembling of the hands, a stooping attitude and an odd gait, that makes it seem as if the invalid was going to precipitate himself head foremost. It is the trembling palsy, also called Parkinson's disease, a sort of general nervous disorder that deprives the unfortunate who is afflicted with it of rest and sleep. Mr. Charcot a long time ago learned from some invalids who were troubled with this infirmity that they derived decided relief from long rides on a railroad or in a carriage, after an of the vibrations caused in the compartments by the train running at full speed, and the more the carriage was jolted over an uneven pavement, the more the relief experienced. At the end of a day's journey they felt better and experienced an inexpressible comfort. One of them conceived the idea of having himself wheeled about for hours in one of those heavy carts used for carrying paving stones. Contrary to the experience of all travelers, those afflicted with trembling palsy felt fresher and more active on alighting from the cars. The longer the trip lasted, and the worse the line, the more durable was their improvement.

Such testimony, coming from various sources, was not lost. It was for Mr Charcot the starting point of a most curious therapeutical application. Mr. Charcot had an armchair constructed, to which a to and fro motion was given by means of an electrical windlass. Long before the invention of the vibrating armchair Dr. Vigouroux conceived the idea of submitting hysterical patients to the vibration of a huge tuning fork. In this way he cured anaesthesias and muscular stiff joints. Other physicians—Boudet, of Paris, and Mortimer, of Granville, applied vibrating rods to the treatment of neuralgias (facial neuralgia in particular) and headaches. Granville devised a small electric hammer, analogous to the hammer of electric bells, and that was applied to the painful point. Under the influence of the shock, repeated hundreds of times within a short period, the pain ceased.

The method was some time ago singularly improved by Dr. Gillis de la Tourette, a pupil of Mr. Charcot. He had an apparatus constructed for the treatment of megrims and nervous headaches; it was the vibrating helmet. Imagine a helmet of the model of that of old times, and very analogous, as to structure, to the conformator of hatters. It is in fact formed of steel plates that permit of its fitting the head perfectly. Upon this helmet, in lieu of crest, there is a small alternating current motor of peculiar construction that makes about 600 revolutions per minute. At every revolution a uniform vibration is propagated to the metallic plates, and is transmitted to the cranium that they embrace. The cranial walls thus vibrate in their ensemble, and the vibrations are naturally transmitted to the entire cerebral apparatus. The sensation is not disagreeable. The number and intensity of the vibrations, moreover, may be varied according to the tolerance of the subject. In a few minutes a sort of general lassitude is experienced, with a tendency to sleep.

The vibrating helmet has already been applied to a large number of neurasthenic invalids, the majority of whom have experienced good results from it. The process succeeds also against hemicrania, and as this is quite a common affection, for which no surely efficacious remedy is known, the helmet will in a short time be seen to come into vogue.—Nature.

An Opening for Inventors.

An engineer has written to one of the dailies to advocate the disoxygenation of glass. He argues that since steel is made by disoxygenating molten cast iron by blowing air through it, by a process reversely analogous glass can be softened into toughness and flexibility. He maintains that glass, which is not only much cheaper than iron, but much denser and tougher, can be put to any of the uses of iron excepting electrical conduction, while for drain pipes and water pipes it would be unequaled.

The champion of disoxygenated glass maintains that it could be used instead of tin and copper, and would replace iron for rigging and fencing, etc., as it possesses almost three times the tensile strength of the best wrought iron; furthermore, he regards it as not improbable that vessels built of glass beams and plates will eventually replace our present steel ships, as they would be stronger, cheaper and one-half lighter.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

American Inventions in Spain.

An American traveler in Spain says that Yankee notions and the ingenious little inventions sold by our street peddlers are appreciated there. While walking in Malaga he saw women shying across the street to get away from something. Making haste to ascertain the cause, he saw a man with a string tied to a tiny mouse, which sought in vain to get away from its tormentor as it glided over the walk. He repeatedly jerked it back, however, and the tourist was shocked until he heard the man calling out, "Raton mechanico Americano" (American mechanical mouse).—New York Sun.

After awhile—not the next day—he said I had to expect. He sent me a dozen. I didn't find it quite so easy as I thought," he answered in his letter, "but here they are."

"Six were could as the full and the other six not worth a farthing. I have had hundreds of pots or the mud of them, which is all that is required—given me in the course of my theatrical career, but only two good ones, and one I bought. They are very rare and valuable articles."

How an Old Phrase Originated.

The phrase "That beats bobtail," is not uncommon even now in many parts of the country, especially in the south. Its origin is traceable to a race which occurred about 1840 or shortly before that year on the famous Fairfield track on the Mechanicsville turnpike, near Richmond. In those days Bob Poindexter lived in Richmond. He was a sporting man, wore fine clothes and owned a number of horses. Among his animals was one he named Pizarro, a plain bay gelding, with black mane and tail, the latter bobbed short.

There was nothing extraordinary about the horse, and nobody looked upon him as a racer. But Poindexter took a notion that he could run. He used to drive Pizarro about Richmond hitched to a buggy. On the day that he was advertised to appear on the track a great crowd was present and excitement ran high, for a good deal of money had been put on the other horses. To the astonishment of everybody Pizarro beat every horse on the track, and the people went fairly wild.

Bobtailed Pizarro never made much of a record. He won two or three races, and then went to pieces. For years afterward, when anything extraordinary happened in that section it was said of it, "That beats bobtail."—Baltimore American.

She Took Them All Back.

They had quarreled, and the high spirited girl said as she handed him a package: "There, Mr. Ferguson, are the presents you have given me. Now that all is over between us, sir, there should be no reminders of the foolish past."

"You are right, Miss Keezer," he said humbly, "and I suppose I must return the gifts you have presented to me."

"I never gave you anything, sir, that I remember."

"Indeed you did."

"Sir, I"

"Miss Keezer—Katie!" he exclaimed, with something that sounded like a sob. "I value them beyond everything else in the world! It would break my heart to return them; but there is nothing else left for me to do."

"Will you kindly tell me, sir, what you are speaking of?"

"I am speaking, Katie, of the kisses you have given me! They are not mine now. It's my duty to restore them. Forgive me, darling, but I cannot go away without"

"Oh, George!"

When the clock struck eleven, about three hours later, George was still returning them.—London Tit-Bits.

Church Chimes Are Common.

Within the last sixteen years only two new chimes have been put up in this city—those of St. Michael's church and those of St. Andrew's. In 1876 there were three chimes—those of Trinity, Grace church and St. Thomas. At that time a writer in one of the prominent magazines expressed surprise that there should be "a chime away off in Eureka, Cal., three sets in Troy, N. Y., one in Hartford, one in Birmingham, Conn., and one in Savannah."

There are many chimes now "away off in California," and all the large cities have them. That there are only five full chimes in New York is good evidence that only five churches care for them, for a good set can be bought for less than $10,000, and dollars are not scarce in the New York churches.—New York Sun.

The Boy's Idea of It.

It seemed as if the visitor never would go away. She had been there a month or more and gave no signs of departure. One day the small boy of the house was looking at her very intently at the table.

"What is it, Johnny?" she inquired graciously, as do those who are receiving undeserved benefactions.

"Ain't no part of your head gone, is there?" he asked.

"Of course not. Why do you ask such a queer question?"

"'Cause I heard mamma say you were eatin your head off, and I wanted to see if there was any marks of it."—Detroit Free Press.

Hard Work.

Quicksilver miners follow the most unhealthy trade in the world. The fumes of the mercury produce constant salivation, and the system becomes permeated with the metal, the teeth of the unfortunate men drop out, they lose their appetite, become emaciated, and as a rule seldom live longer than two years.—London Tit-Bits.

Telegraph dispatches Sunday reported the marriage of Miss Margaret Mather, the popular actress, to Col. Gustave Pabst, the son of Fred Pabst, the Milwaukee brewer.

Reserved seats are now on sale, at popular prices, for the engagement of the well known actress, Margaret Mather, in "The Honeymoon," at the opera house next Saturday evening.

An elaborate concert will be given in the new high school auditorium soon after the opening of the school. The proceeds will be used to create a fund for the purchase of a piano for the high school.

Mr. Locke Richardson gave another of his delightful readings at The Antlers' pavilion yesterday afternoon. The play read was Henry IV. Quite a large sum was realized for the benefit of the free kindergarten.

Prof. E. S. Parsons, of Colorado College, read an interesting paper on "Christianity and Socialism" before the Monday evening club of the First Congregational church last evening at the residence of Mr. F. L. Martin. A discussion of the subject followed after which refreshments were served.

Every citizen of the city regardless of class or calling, ought to be interested in the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce in The Antlers pavilion to-night. Full reports of the work will be presented and the plans for the future will be discussed.

Last night the Rev. Jos. A. Duncan of Denver preached an excellent sermon at the M. E. church, South, being the first of the series. There was a good Monday night congregation, and the singing was very hearty, as is usual at this little church. To-night the meeting will be continued. Everybody is invited.

Articles of agreement were filed yesterday by which the Albert J. Pidgeon Drug and Chemical company has been formed, to do business in this city. The company is to do a general drug and chemical business. The incorporators are Albert J. Pidgeon, Arnold Shanklin and Thomas Phillips, and the company will have a capital stock of $10,000.

Mrs. Mary C. Templeton, wife of Henry Templeton, of Colorado City, died at 12 o'clock Sunday evening. Mrs. Templeton was 52 years of age, and has resided in Colorado for over thirty years. She was one of the pioneer women of Colorado, having crossed the plains with her husband in the gold excitement days of 1850-60. She was a most estimable lady. The husband and eight children survive her. The funeral was held at 1:30 yesterday afternoon at Colorado City.

Margaret Mather.

To those who admire the standards of dramatic merit there is much of pleasant anticipation in the coming of Margaret Mather in "The Honeymoon"; as in this play she is seen at her best and in this is given opportunity to display her varied talents almost to the nicety of perfection, it is said. With the environment of a play which contains a world of amusement and a company that is said to be rarely effective in the roles of this play it will indeed be strange if Miss Mather does not on this visit greatly enlarge and increase the pleasant esteem and regard in which she is held by those who have seen her elsewhere. Miss Mather's work as Juliana has always been highly lauded by the eastern press, many of the critics saying that she is seen at her best in the graceful lines and pleasing action of Tobin's masterpiece. The Duke Aranza of Mr. Joseph E. Whiting is said to be a very clever piece of work, while the Balthasar of Mr. H. A. Langdon and the Hostess of Mrs. Sol Smith are said to be in line with Miss Mather's adequate portrayal of the leading role. The engagement is for one night only, Saturday evening next.

Business Property Changes Hands.

The most important real estate deal reported for a long time in Colorado Springs was made public yesterday. Mr. W. P. Bonbright and Mr. D. V. Donaldson, of Pittsburg, have purchased of Mr. John Curr the building on Cascade avenue now occupied by the Shields-Morley Grocery company. The property is 50x190 feet and well improved. The gentlemen also secured a half interest in a right of way for a ten-foot alley adjoining the property. This is the largest piece of improved real estate that has changed hands for some time, and the gentlemen purchased the property for an investment purely, as Shields & Morley have a long lease on the building. The property was improved by Mr. Curr two years ago by a handsome two-story brick. The price paid is not made public. The sale will have a strong influence in strengthening real estate in this city, as it shows the confidence of capitalists in city property and that they still believe there are good bargains in business property. It seems to be the general impression that the next great activity in business circles will be in real estate and that it will come during the winter months as usual.

A Request.

The managers of the Woman's Educational society of Colorado college beg leave to inform their friends that the increased number of students at Montgomery hall has made it necessary to furnish rooms for the students in the lower part of the building.

In consequence of these additions two rooms stand ready to be furnished. As it often happens that persons living at Colorado Springs have furniture which they are not using, the ladies of the society take the liberty of suggesting that any article suitable for these vacant rooms will be gratefully received at Montgomery hall.

The college has so strong a place in the interest of the people of the town, that it is believed that this statement of the needs of the girls' department will be received with the attention to which it is entitled. Respectfully,

MARY L. BACON,
Secretary.

Patti Rosa.

Patti Rosa in "Miss Dixie" attracted a large audience to the opera house last night, and all were completely won by the little comedienne's singing, dancing and vivacity. She showed herself an adept pupil of the Lotta school and entertained with a power and ability that completely caught her audience. She is original and vivacious and while the play is void of plot, Miss Rosa by her witticisms and capriciousness keeps the audience in constant good nature.

She is supported by a capable company, among whom are Gerald Griffin, who becomingly takes the part of Dr. Jediah Rutherford, a hypnotic crank and uncle of Miss Dixie, who with Ned Rutherford, a lover, has considerable sport with the old doctor. Joe Cawthorn as Max Bronson, Dixie's foster brother, proved himself a big favorite and was encored time and again for his funny songs and original jokes. Prof. Paddleoffski (Edgar F. Halstead) had a most difficult part, as a bogus musician, but did his work creditably and to the merriment of everybody.

The introduction of songs, dances, medleys, trios, duets, etc., was complete and successful.

The Eastern Star.

The order of the Eastern Star, the membership of which includes Masons, their wives, daughters and sisters, celebrated its first anniversary in Masonic hall last night. The branch in this city has in one short year grown rapidly, so that it has a membership of eighty persons. The time was pleasantly spent last evening in playing various games, in listening to songs by Mr. Coffey, solos by Mrs. Cinq Mars and in dancing. Refreshments were served by the ladies and in this way the evening's entertainment was agreeably rounded out.

Colorado City is to have a new bank under the management of M. J. Myers Smith, formerly connected with the Wheeler bank. Articles of incorporation were filed yesterday under the name, Colorado City State bank. The incorporators are C. M. Sherman, Charles Stockbridge, N. B. Hames, C. A. Crane, M. J. Myers Smith, James McIntosh, and Mattie Drake. The object is to establish a bank of discount and deposit, the capital being $30,000, divided into 300 shares. The officers of the bank are to be C. M. Sherman, president; Charles Stockbridge, vice president; M. J. Myers Smith, cashier.

Mr. J. M. Brinson, chairman of the Democratic county central committee, in conversation yesterday stated that he has no sympathy with the criticisms that have been made of Judge Campbell's decisions in the cases brought more than a week ago to have the Democratic candidate's names placed on the bullion ticket. As the petitioner in the case he does not believe that the decision was in any way actuated by partisanship and holds that the questions presented were doubtful and debatable.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

The special services that are being held at the rooms of the Y. M. C. A. each evening of this week started in very auspiciously last evening, the room being well filled with young men in spite of the many attractions elsewhere. A quartet from the blind institute rendered two beautiful selections that were very effective. The leader of the service, Rev. Joshua Gravett has an attractive way of conducting a service of this character and best of all has a message for young men.

All young men are invited to the service at the Y. M. C. A. rooms this evening at 8 o'clock. Topic for to-night "Choosing." A feature of the song service will be solos by Mrs. E. Whitney.

Actor Curtis' New Trial

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—The second trial of M. B. Curtis, the actor, charged with the murder of Policeman Alexander Grant a year or more ago, began this morning. The work of impaneling a jury will probably not be completed within three or four days.

Expensive Jollification.

NEVADA, Mo., Nov. 14.—Eldorado Springs, nineteen miles east of this city, was visited by a destructive fire yesterday morning, eleven business houses being destroyed. The loss is estimated at $100,000. The insurance is very light. The fire is supposed to have originated from fireworks at a Democratic ratification.

Margaret Mather's Marriage Denied.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 14.—Margaret Mather left for the east last night. Just before her departure a reporter called and asked to see her about the rumored marriage. She positively refused to see any one. Her niece was seen and positively denied the marriage. The niece further denied that she admitted the marriage in San Francisco. Miss Mather, her niece and Mr. Pabst came up from San Diego, November 10. Mr. Pabst registered the party at the Hollenbeck hotel.

St. Charles, Ill., Sept. 14, 1892

W. E. Godfrey, 25 Gladstone Building, Salt Lake City, Utah: The New York Board of Health is buying St. Charles Evaporated Cream. We feel that this puts another high feather in our cap. A sterilized milk is an absolute necessity in Typhoid and Cholera cases, as well as all infantile troubles. But do not lose sight of the culinary side of our goods.
